

Students can get another person to collect the examination by granting authorisation. The person granting authorisation must then prove his or her identity by attaching a copy of an approved ID document.

The representative must have reached the age of 18 and be able to present approved ID documents. Handing over the examination in question is done after the representative has signed the special examination list.

Collecting the original examination may make it more difficult for students to have examination results corrected or reviewed. With any remarks on the examination, a copy of the examination should be requested instead of the original.
